Mrs. Lilly Wins Assembly Seat

Drive Gets Big Start

Mrs. Mary M. Lilly, elected to the Assembly by the Democrats of the Seventh Assembly District, Manhattan, had to wait twenty-four hours before being sure of victory. During this time she was reported both as winner and loser "by a small margin," and it was not until last night the women of the Seventh Assembly District. Every house of the district was covered by women who organized for work during registration week.

"We found that the voters would not register until we went out to round them up," said Mrs. Sire yesterday. "Then they came in almost double the expected numbers. So we used the same tactics to get them out

Messager by the orchestra of the Conservatory. But we forbear beyond saying the performance of the Frenchmen there was less academic rigidity and more virility in that of the band from Boston. The Debussy piece has been played here before by the Boston Orchestra as well as our own Philharmonic. By a coincidence, when Mr Fiedler brought it forward some seven years ago, he also associated it with Franck's symphony. This circumstance was edifying for those who were able and willing to take note of the div regent trends of French music during the

The first few episodes of "The Master Mystery," a B. A. Rolfe serial starring Houdini, were shown at the Strand yes-

Houdini, were shown at the Strand yesterday morning.

The tale, by Arthur B. Reeve and Charles A. Logue, is weird and improbable, but not nearly so much so as the feats performed by Houdini.

In a speech, made by the star, after the third episode, he said that he had made the picture so that when he was dead and gone another generation would have substantial proof that he really had done the things of which they have heard. Coming from Houdini this sounded all right, for no one can deny that in his particular line he is paramount.

Geraldyn Livington Redmond, Aviation Corps, U. S. N., son of Geraldyn Redmond, of 701 Park Avenue, and Callendond of Tool Park Avenue, and C

All of the things which Houdini has Gerald F. MacEwen Weds

All of the things which Houdini has done on the stage are woven into the story, but it is to be shown as a scrial, with the episodes one week apart, and how is any one going to wait seven days to have Houdini rescue himself from a vat of vitriol, extricate himself from a straitjacket or get out of a divers' suit "twenty thousand lengues under the sea"? And in the fourth episode, which was the last one shown yesterday, they left him in the East River tied up in a packing box.

The picture is fascinating but as extravagant as serials always are.

The story is about an automaton man who looks something like the Tiny this tin man has not a good disposition. He is feared by every one and perpetiates fearful crimes. And yet in spite of his empty head he has good taste, for he is always pursuing Margaret Marsh, the leading lady.

William Pike is always pursuing her, too, but she likes Houdini, and he is always saving her life.

You'll be surprised when you see Houdini on the screen. He is really cuite handsome and he admits it himself. He said to us delighted y "I series pretty well for an old fellow don't I?"
